Willimantic, September 6, at their weekly meeting, Tuesday night, heard an interesting talk on Hawaii by Harold Meese of Hilo, Hawaii, a member of the Hilo Rotary club. Mr. Meese has been the past twenty-three years of his life on the islands and is now making a trip to the east, visiting relatives.

The main business of the islands, said Mr. Meese, is sugar and pineapple production. For 1920 the total exports of the islands reached $192,000,000 of which the pineapple crop figured twenty-five millions. The greatest trouble now encountered on the islands is a shortage of labor, the sugar industry having a shortage of 25 per cent. Chinese are to be brought in to fill the needs for laborers.

The average temperature of the Hawaiian Islands ranges between 65 and 85 degrees but Hilo has a temperature of about ten degrees below that average. The rainy season on the islands extends from January 1st to December 31st of each year, and the annual rainfall is about 150 to 160 inches. In some years as much as 18 to 19 inches of rain is figured but the ground being of volcanic nature soon takes up the vast amount of water. The people there think little of the rain, as the storm very seldom lasts long, and are mostly in the night.

In reply to questions asked by Rotarians, Mr. Meese said that the tobacco industry is being fostered on the islands and tobacco of fine quality is being raised. Living costs were higher there than in the states but the wages were better. The pure-blood Hawaiian are dying out due to the spread of tuberculosis and other diseases brought by the white men, and in another fifty years will be practically exterminated. The manufacturing on the islands is up to date and every convenience enjoyed in the states is in use there. In closing Mr. Meese extended an invitation to local members to visit the Hilo club if they ever visit the island.

The usual Rotary songs were enjoyed during the meeting, which began with a song by members. A check for $25.00 was received from the fall conference to be held at Poland Springs, Me. President Foss was authorized to accept a check from the fall conference of $25.00. It was voted that all members of the club purchase Rotary emblems of green gold. Samplings were shown by H. W. Stander.

Unopposed to secure the buttons. All members are to display a button of similar size. The club voted to hold an evening meeting on the third Thursday of this month, for members. A meeting for women friends of the members is planned later. President Foss stated that the Rotary play could not be held in the former Opera House as planned this month as he had received no reply from John M. Hall Jr., who is on his vacation.

The entertainment was in charge of Raymond A. Parker and took the form of an "All-Rotary Meeting." Secretary Charles Hill read a report of activities of the local club since its institution. The attendance has been 22 per cent.

Other reports read were: Tanton Rotary club, Herbert Huber; Bridgeport Rotary club, George Huber; Manchester, N. H. Rotary club, John C. Tracy; Worcester, Mass. Rotary club, Raymond A. Parker; Winsted Rotary club, James P. Bath; Portland, Me. Rotary club, James E. Foss.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, after which a short meeting of the directors took place.

Wm. and Etta Price, residents of Clark street, were before the police court Tuesday morning charged with intoxication and breach of the peace. Both pleaded guilty to the first charge but denied being guilty of breach of the peace. Officers Lariviere and Bombara testified to being informed that there was trouble at the Price home about 3 o'clock Monday night and when they arrived there was a large crowd and the accused could be heard swearing and shouting. The argument was over the bill. When the officers saw the testimony Mrs. Price who was seated in the prisoners' cage said "That's a confounded lie" and Mr. Price added, "The hell with it, I never fight. We may have a word or two but never fight."

Judge Foss remanded Price that he be held thirty days suspended bail, to appear over him for breach of the peace and both guilty and imposed a fine of $100.00 and costs on the charge of breach of the peace and a thirty day jail sentence for intoxication.

The continued case of George Wheeler, of West Main street, which began Tuesday morning in police court and continued until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, was dismissed after the latter session and Wheeler was found guilty of having intoxication hours in his possession with intent to sell. He was fined $50 and costs by Judge Foss and informed that any further complaint against him would bring a jail sentence. Notice was given of an appeal to the superior court bonds fixed at $200 were furnished by Charles Maxwell.

Numerous persons testified to hearing that liquor could be bought at the Wheeler home and testimony was introduced to show that home brew had been purchased there for fifteen cents a bottle. The analysis of the liquor sold was made by Dr. H. D. Newton, of the Connecticut Agricultural College, and it was found that the alcoholic contents of two bottles figured 12.2 per cent, and for two others 5.24 per cent. The analysis was made several days after the liquor was seized.

During the testimony, counsel for the defense objected to the testimony that his client had a reputation for selling liquor was allowed, however, and Chief Kilbourne, Lieutenant Steward and Officer John Kilbourne, and Officer Bombardier gave such testimony. Officer Kilbourne said he had seen people coming from the Wheeler home at the time of the raid by the police and evidence was found that home brew was being made in large quantities. A tub found on the kitchen floor contained many bottles packed in ice, others were found in the ice box. The house contained three or four tenements, according to testimony of the officers.
